

HOMEHARVEST IS HIRING!

Are you interested in building awesome edible gardens in the Boston Area, helping people grow fruits and vegetables, working on a construction team, and experiencing urban agriculture firsthand? We're hiring for at least two new positions!

HomeHarvest LLC is an edible gardening and construction company based out of Arlington, MA. We're entering our 10th growing season and we're excited to grow our team and help people who want to be more self sufficient. www.homeharvest.biz Check out our website!

This is a seasonal position beginning April first and ending early December.

GARDEN SPECIALIST - Help us install flower & pollinator gardens, edible landscapes, food forests with fruit trees and berries from our own plant nursery, build and plant raised beds, maintain existing gardens, add fertility to our landscapes, and occasionally help with construction. Experience with perennials and horticulture is essential.

STONE MASONRY + CONSTRUCTION SPECIALIST - Help us install robust and creative construction projects including raised beds, patios, walls, walkways, greenhouses, steps, sculptures, arbors, pergolas etc and help with machine work, grading, site work, and general construction and occasional planting. Machine operation experience and ability to act as a site foreman is a big plus.

For both positions, you'll need:

- 3+ years of relevant experience. Only reach out if you meet this requirement
- A valid drivers license so you can drive company trucks
- A positive attitude and willingness to work physically in New England weather
- Ability to work well independently or with others
- To be confident with your abilities and physically fit

Hourly rates are commensurate with experience, often starting in $15-25/hr range.

Email Ben Barkan, Owner & Founder of HomeHarvest, about why you're a good candidate. Thank you!
